1. CALL TO ORDER AND ROLL CALL

Ms. Kathryn Mitchell, Faculty Professional Development (FPD) Chair, called the September 28, 2011 FPD meeting to order at 2:06 p.m.

2. OPENING COMMENTS FROM THE CHAIR

None

3. OPEN COMMENTS FROM THE PUBLIC

None

4. APPROVAL OF MINUTES

a. September 14, 2011 (attachment)

A motion was made and seconded to approve the September 14, 2011 FPD meeting minutes. Motion carried with two abstentions.

5. ACTION ITEMS

a. 2011 – 2012 FPD Committee Goals (attachment)

A motion was made and seconded to approve the drafted committee goals for 2011 – 2012. Ms. Mitchell stated the proposed FPD goals were drafted from suggestions and feedback provided by the committee and evaluations. The committee was requested to review the proposed goals for the 2011 – 2012 program year.

1. Continue to explore online professional development opportunities.
2. Examine ways to address professionalism, including ethics and decorum in academic settings.
3. Coordinate additional committee sponsored events.
4. Create online FPD orientation for new hires, both adjunct and full-time.
5. Revisit the Chancellor's Guidelines to ensure we are following the parameters as required.
6. Update and clarify language used in guidelines regarding presenter credit.
7. Develop help desk feature/system for questions regarding FPD.

Committee members engaged in a brief discussion regarding established goals. Ms. Rosa Fuller stated last year the committee discussed including survey result feedback and solicit faculty to submit proposals based on evaluation suggestions. Committee members were in consensus to add another goal to include review survey results and communicate to faculty suggested event topics prior to soliciting proposal for the 2012 – 2013 program year. In addition, Ms. Mitchell reported another goal that could be added to the list is to work with the Faculty Union to solidify and revise contract language regarding FPD requirements so program requirements are consistent in contract language. Committee members were in consensus to add the language as goal #9. Motion carried as revised.

6. DISCUSSION ITEMS

a. FPD Help Desk Ideas

Ms. Mitchell reported with the downsizing of the Senate Office Staff there is a great need to distribute the FPD workload currently completed by Senate Office Staff. Ms. Pat Gordon will be moving to a new location and will no longer be available to offer assistance. The committee needs to establish a means to reduce the workload currently experienced in the Senate Office as there is a great deal of work required in day to day operations of the Senate Office. Ms. Mitchell stated she would like to propose a FPD telephone help line and email address to facilitate a means for committee members to address faculty questions. Two committee members could be assigned to respond to any inquiries via telephone or email a week on a rotating schedule. Ms. Mitchell indicated there is a great deal of work in responding to inquiries from faculty regarding FPD requirements.

Committee members engaged in discussion regarding instituting a process to alleviate some of the FPD workload and were in consensus a FPD help line feature would be a good idea to implement although it would be a tremendous training effort to retrain faculty from simply contacting the Senate Office with inquiries. Dr. Lehman recommended possibly instituting an alternative model where there is a divisional representative available to answer questions within divisions. Ms. Mitchell stated this would involve more work for committee members as some divisions have more faculty than others and the current committee composition does not include faculty representatives from each division therefore some committee members would have to double up on divisions. Ms. LaDonna Trimble indicated there seems to be a need for a common training session for committee members in efforts to uphold program guidelines and establish consistency when responding to inquiries. Ms. Lott stated she was completely supportive of allowing committee members perform FPD work required and answer inquiries regarding program guidelines and requirements. Only involving the Chair and support staff in this matter is an inefficient use of committee members. Dr. Coffman requested a shared document log should be established and maintained so that there is consistency in answering faculty inquiries. Ms. Rosa Fuller stated the campus would have to be retrained in this matter and the committee needs to begin getting the word out to faculty constituencies by making the announcement at the Academic Senate as well as at the Division level.

Ms. Mitchell indicated a shared document can be created to track inquiries by semester, but she wouldn't want to create such a large document that it would become too cumbersome to manage. She would like to keep the FPD work interdisciplinary to avoid paranoia and make the work valuable for all parties involved. This is a great opportunity for committee members to obtain a full understanding of the complete FPD Program as a whole. There will definitely be a need to perform a committee training to get the group organized and prepared. Ms. Mitchell stated she will work on drafting a template for a log and research obtaining a unique telephone extension and email address for future FPD inquiries.

b. Review Presenter Credit Language/Guidelines

Ms. Mitchell reported with the changes to the program and striving to obtain interdisciplinary professional development events the committee needs to reevaluate the language and credit hours for presenters and coordinators. Committee members were requested to review the current presenter/coordinator credit for discussion. Ms. Mitchell conveyed one of the primary issues she's recognized involves repeat events as well as ensuring cultural/film events include a minimum thirty minute lecture/discussion. Currently, repeat events are hard to track except by memory; therefore, faculty are claiming full credit for a repeat event. There isn't an effective mechanism in place to bring attention to an event being a repeat. It was suggested to include a check box on the proposal form requiring faculty to mark if the event is a repeat presentation.

Committee members reviewed the current language and noted credit for film events are listed in both section #2 and #3. In reviewing section #2 – committee members recommended removing film series and panel from the current language and include language that states faculty must include a 30 minute lecture presentation for a three hour presentation. In addition, committee members suggested keeping the formatting consistent and include an example formula similar to the other two sections.

In reviewing section #3 committee members were in consensus to change the term "Presenter" to Facilitator. Ms. Mitchell stated in this section the committee needs to discuss the musical element. Faculty presenters are often provided release time and/or a stipend to coordinate campus musical events. In determining credit for the event the committee needs to ensure equity when considering the time required coordinating and rehearsal time required to facilitate a musical event. Committee members were in consensus that language needed to be added to this section indicating facilitators would be awarded three times the lecture hour(s) plus the length of the event as credit.

Mr. Halliday stated this is going to take reeducating faculty regarding awarded presenter/ coordinator/ facilitator credit. In efforts to streamline the process the committee should include verbiage on the approval letters indicating the total hours the faculty can claim for presenter/coordinator/facilitator credit and which standards the credit can be claimed.

Ms. Mitchell indicated she would make the recommended changes and bring back to the committee for approval at the next FPD Committee meeting. The newly adopted presenter/coordinator/facilitator credit would not go into effect until the 2012 – 2012 FPD Program.

c. 2010 – 2011 Event Evaluations (attachment)

Ms. Mitchell reported the event evaluation data for the 2010 – 2011 FPD Program has been completely compiled. The majority of the programmed events received good evaluations. The committee will need to thoroughly review the suggested comments and communicate to faculty the suggestions prior to distributing the call for proposals. This will occur at the end of the fall 2011 semester as the call for new program proposals will be opened during the winter break.

d. Spring 2012 Welcome Back Day Coordination

Ms. Mitchell requested feedback on coordinating the spring 2012 Welcome Back Day. This day is not established as a mandatory day but there were some suggestions to change the time scheduled for breakout session to one hour versus an hour and a half. The committee was in consensus to keep the breakout session at an hour and a half in length. There were more complaints about the sessions being rushed and not having enough time to go over subject matter or allow discussion opportunities. Committee members were reminded the spring Welcome Back Day is not a mandatory day but has been getting a significant amount of response because faculty are able to acquire a large number of Standard #1 – Faculty Academy credit for participating in the events scheduled. Ms. Mitchell stated she has already received numerous requests for inclusion as topics for the spring Welcome Back Day. They are: STRS/Union session, a session pertaining to Basic Skills issues, a Student Learning Outcomes session, a Classroom Safety session, and an Information Technology Services session. The committee might want to consider including a FPD (Flex) session similar to spring 2011. Committee members were encouraged to brainstorm alternate breakout session ideas and forward them to Ms. Mitchell for consideration. The spring 2012 Welcome Back Day agenda will be reviewed and approved at a future FPD meeting.

July (2010)
Hamlet - Theatricum botanicum	6	6	0	Thanks for your efforts to expand the flex program;
				Very well done	More like this one
				I really enjoyed this performance of Hamlet and it definitely increased my appreciation for Shakespeare and small theater productions in general. I hope Scott and cohorts continue to offer quality theater-based activities for FPD events.
				Due to the nature of the play being a public venue, and far removed from AVC, it was not possible for the presenter to give any background detail on the performance or the play. However, he did provide a written handout which we could review at a later date. The performance was outstanding and well worth attending. Hopefully, it will continue. My only suggestion is if there could be some type of verbal presentation to flex attendees prior to the performance. Or possibly, the written handout could be e-mailed to us a week or two before the date of the performance.
				This was a remarkably good performance. I was well worth the time and effort to travel to Topanga Canyon.	The more Shakespeare the better
August (2010)
Freedom is a Dangerous Illusion - Zhu, Gratton	6	2	4	The guest speaker was nothing short of horrible. He could not hold the mic to his face and speak into it, he stumbled over his own words, slurred, and stuttered. It seemed that he was intoxicated. I left after one hour because it was so bad.
					No, I have made an offer to give but not received a reply
				The first presenter, although seemed knowledgeable, had problems with his speech, and he was hard to hear and follow. He just read out of a paper without involving the audience in discussion. The presenters did not make strong arguments. Overall, not a satisfactory presentation, and certainly not valuable for my teaching or my performance in the classroom.

				It was the MOST enjoyable flex presentation I've ever attended. Educations! Relaxing! Stress relieving! All that and I cant believe I only attended the flex presentation as a matter of factly, because I had to get the flex hours!!! I cant wait until the next flex involving th ARTS comes around. 				This was really fascinating. I'd just suggest that it's best to not try to enter into debates with believer. I though Dr. Rainbow's points were marvelous and convincing, but I also saw that he wasn't going to convince anybody who was already invested in a particular belief. But he's certainly gutsy.

He kept talking and talking assuming that the audience already knew the rules. I would have gained more by researching the rules of the game online. The whole hour was a waste of my time. I did ask a few questions and he said that he would go over these questions later, but he never did. I felt embarrassed asking any more questions.

				Great way of creating courses	A session where we can work w update or new course that can b supervision of someone who ca through questions if something does not work.
				Excellent presentation
				Extremely informative and wasy to follow and understand the presentation.
				It is sad to see so many faculty/staff behave badly during flex. For example, about 4-5 people including the dean came late to out Thursday presentation thus missing the introductory comments that were made at the beginning of the talk. Then the same "late comers" proceeded to ask the same question over and over, a questions that was answered at the befinning. Also, during the presentations, there was a group, that was constantly tlaking while the presenter was trying to explain CurricUNET. We do not let our students behave this way, yet, do the same during the presentation little spoiled children. Finnaly, and this applies to other talks also, many people sing and leave early, which is not very professional. Please you need to do something aobut this. For example, do not put the singup sheet, until the talk ahs finished, etc.	Evolution and Science Educatio
				Some people asked too many questions, so the man had to rush the presentation.
				More training classes at times when not instructing.
				Obvioulsy there were still some things to work out on Curricunet, but it's new, so that's to be expected. The presenters needed to do a better job managing the classroom - i.e. controlling and curbing the questions from attendees that were just rants about AP&P processes and not really related to computer training on Curricunet. These quesitons wasted a lot of valuable time that could have been better used.

Marauder Football game	2	2		There was no entertainment as you would expect in a football game. No cheerleaders, no music, no singing, just watching the game. I suggest that entertainment be included in the future & this will help fill the stadium. 				One of the best presentations I've seen in the Flex program in years. Very informative and interesting to hear about Darci's ongoing research at Lamani. The photos were great!
				Interesting, but needed a breaktime inserted. Distractions were oft repeated if you will and so to speak which detracted from the presentations.
Weave - Voelcker	3	3		I'd like to see this one be more user friendly. It was very "technical" and not enough time was allowed for participants to digest the information and ask questions.

On Course Highlights - Toll	8	8		It was a very interesting presentation that created discussion & more discussions even after the end of it, with faculty disagreeing with each other on how strictly faculty should follow the rules & regulations. Few presentations create so much discussion, & I give it an A+ on creating such heated arguments among faculty.

				Best Flex I have ever attended. Very informative. Helpful information to make us better teachers.
				Most Enlightening presentations I've attended. Listening to the paving of the presenter so that the interpreter could keep up for the hearing impaired student in attendance was a big eye opener. Knowing what materials to provide the interpreter was informative. Watching the hearing impaired students trying to grasp the presentation, and their personal comments, made the presentation even more meaningful. WOW!	I will try to attend other present topic
				This was an extremely well managed and presentation. It was invaluable to me as an instructor. I have had deaf students in my classes and I wish I had previously had the knowledge Duane imparted to us last Friday. He should present that event on a regular basis, every year or every other year.
				Brilliant! Duane is fantastic at taking us into the world of the deaf student, seeing things from their point of view for the deaf child. He makes it entertaining and at the same time, conveys his own feeling of urgency about the topic. What an advocate!

The technical aspects, offered through the college, would be of greater benefit to those students. This presentation illustrating these aspects would be of value.
				This was different. It introduced me to a type of music I'd never heard.
				Unfortunately, the first half of the program was weak. The performers were from the college and there seemed to be a number of flat notes, wobbly playing. Berkeley Price came out later to explain that the music they were performing hadn't originally been composed for a brass orchestra, and some of it was very hard to play. But then I question why it would have been selected for this concert. I rather wish the original program -- Songs of Spring -- had been adhered to. Overall, this one was disappointing
